Living the RV Life Federal RegisterMotorhomes
Time spent with the family in a Coachmen Leprechaun or a Holiday Rambler is unforgettable. Indiana retains a unique place in the RV industry going back to the 1930s, when pioneering individuals like Milo Miller, Harold Platt and Wilbur Schult created the original RV businesses in the Elkhart-South Bend area, making campers for sale. By the end of World War II, the national media was identifying Elkhart as the "Trailer Capital of the World." That status has been reinforced ever since, and the industry is still thriving in Indiana with the successes of Thor Industries and Forest River. Join author and RV expert Al Hesselbart as he chronicles how the Hoosier State became the RV Capital of the World.

This book, I have written, has helped to release all the tension I had with the obstacles I met along with the raising of this family. With the farm life and the large family, including a son with birth defects and Down's syndrome, life was strenuous. Years of struggling to keep the family well and happy. With the help of good doctors and surgeons, in Bobby's case, we have seen that it can be done. I was always trusting God in each incidence. It is my hope that this book will prove to be an inspiration to any and all who have the privilege of reading it.

The triumphant return of a book that gave us permission to throw out the rulebook, in activities ranging from play to architecture to revolution. When this book first appeared in 1972, it was part of the spirit that would define a new architecture and design era—a new way of thinking ready to move beyond the purist doctrines and formal models of modernism. Charles Jencks and Nathan Silver's book was a manifesto for a generation that took pleasure in doing things ad hoc, using materials at hand to solve real-world problems. The implications were subversive. Turned-off citizens of the 1970s immediately adopted the book as a DIY guide. The word "ad hocism" entered the vocabulary, the concept of ad hocism became part of the designer's toolkit, and Ad hocism became a cult classic. Now Adhocism is available again, with new texts by Jencks and Silver reflecting on the past forty years of adhocism and new illustrations demonstrating adhocism's continuing relevance. Adhocism has always been around. (Think Robinson Crusoe, making a raft and then a shelter from the wreck of his ship.) As a design principle, adhocism starts with everyday improvisations: a bottle as a candleholder, a dictionary as a doorstop, a tractor seat on wheels as a dining room chair. But it is also an undeveloped force within the way we approach almost every activity, from play to architecture to city planning to political revolution. Engagingly written, filled with pictures and examples from areas as diverse as auto mechanics and biology, Adhocism urges us to pay less attention to the rulebook and more to the real principle of how we actually do things. It declares that problems are not necessarily solved in a genius's "eureka!" moment but by trial and error, adjustment and readjustment.

The F53 Motorhome Manual 2000: V10 Gas is a handy reference tool. The manual included by your motorhome/RV manufacturer does not include the F53 Ford Chassis reference manual. The obvious use for such a guide would be to obtain the part number for a relay that might power windshield wipers or turn signals. Ford suggests you read the guide from front to back. This may sound like a geeky thing to do, but having read this guide, I can assure you the small expenditure of time is well worth the knowledge you will gain over such a large investment. I was, for example, surprised to find out that the Ford F53 V10 will run in a "Fail Safe" mode when overheated. Half the cylinders will not fire but rather circulate air over the remaining cylinders to keep them cool!

Doc Paskowitz started surfing in the Gulf of Mexico on Galveston Island in 1930. He's 93, and he's still surfing ( now riding in heaven) While he would never agree, Doc can be considered one of the earliest pioneers of the shape of today's surf culture. He spent nearly 25 years on the road, living in a succession of used campers. It is, quite possibly, the world's longest surf trip. He and his wife raised nine children in those campers, soaking them in the ocean and their idea of how life should be lived. Take a trip with Doc Paskowitz and his family. This easy read is honest and can help you understand his passion for Surfing and Health, Motorhomes Documeant Publishing

Want to Make S'Mores Over the Campfire? Outdoor camping in the woods can be fun. Living out in the wilderness in nature, hearing the sounds of animals and birds rustling in the trees. Smelling the fresh night air and looking up to the dark sky sprinkled with stars. But now you are hungry and you're a long way from your well stocked kitchen at home. Cooking in the wilderness can be challenging, unless you know a few tricks. One tip is to prepare recipes at home before you leave. Then have them ready to wrap in foil packets and cook them on the campfire for 10 minutes or less. Sounds easy and it is. Just mix a few recipes ahead a time and you will be eating gourmet style in the wilderness, even while away from your own kitchen. Inside you will find my all time Campfire favorites ... ENJOY!!
